100 Frames Project

On display in the Swan Hill Library until 20 November, the 100 Frames Project is a photographic exhibition of the January 2011 flood event in the Gannawarra Shire.

This Floods Community Recovery project was endorsed by the Department of Planning and Community Development of Victoria, with the aim of aiding and supporting communities within the Gannawarra Shire in moving forward.

Following the flood, recognisable now as a one in 100 year event, one of the noticeable outcomes was the huge number of photographs produced in the community.

In an effort to capture a selection of these pictures, the Gannawarra Shire Council called for photographs across the region, receiving more than 5700 photographs.

After much consideration and debate the final 100 images were chosen, printed and framed, creating the exhibition “100 Frames: the January 2011 flood event in photographs” as you see it today.

Safari
Tony Park

An increasingly volatile Zimbabwe and the jungle-clad mountains of the Democratic Republic of Congo is where a dangerously charged game of cat and mouse plays out in Africa’s wildlife wars.

Canadian researcher Michelle Parker cannot resist the opportunity to make contact with the famed mountain gorillas, but she is wary of the man giving her this chance – professional big-game hunter, Fletcher Reynolds.

Into this mix steps ex-SAS officer Shane Castle. He has been recruited by Fletcher to spearhead the anti-poaching campaign. Shane is a man who has seen what bullets can do, to both human and animal, but is also a man who makes Michelle start to doubt the choices she has made.

Wow! It’s Italian cooking demonstration

The Library was recently treated to its first ever live cooking demonstration!

Hilda and Laurie Inglese, from the Yarra Valley, made their audience mouth-watering authentic Italian meatballs, and treated us to their just as yummy vegie-balls, which we all got to try.

Laurie also had us enthralled with his father’s tales of growing up in Italy as a young boy and how his hard-working family grew or made all of their own food and had to make it last all through a long and cold winter.

Hilda explained how their cookbook came about through family members and friends pester them for their families’ authentic Italian recipes and wanting to hand these recipes down to their children and grandchildren.

If you want to have a go at cooking some authentic Italian dishes, the Library has purchased a copy of their book, called Wow! It’s Italian: experience the essence of Italian cooking, so you too can borrow the book and wow your family!
